Gen. Maximo B. Rosales Advocates Offensive and Defensive Alliance.

WOULD UNITE COUNTRIES OF WESTERN HEMISPHERE

Former Member of Honduran Cabinet Says Question Is Most Important of Century.

Gen. Maximo B. Rosales, a former who recently arrived in Washington and who has had, several conferences officials of the Latin American division of the State Department, is having a series of consultations with Winfield Jones, secretary of the National Defense League, in regard to the possibility of extending through Central American countries a so-called by the National Defense Mr. Jones has been instruin spreading this doctrine through Central America, and President Porras of Panama has had it published in Spanish as a public document sending it to the presidents and principal officials of Latin American coun-

European War Unexpected.

"Nobody expected war in Europe. Nobody expects it in the United States

A "Kids' " Park.

The "kids" " park of Pittsburgh, which is to be officially known as Jitney Park, is a new recreation ground opened during the past summer entirely through efforts of a boys' gang. A dilapidated stretch of ground on the bank of the Monongahela river had been a dumping place for the tenements in the neighborhood. The boys cleared it up under the direction of their own "boss." They reserved room for a spacious ball ground for themselves, but generously threw the rest of the space open to the neighborhood. . Swings and park benches have been has become a pleasant gathering pla city park commissioner with trees and shrubs which the boys have pledged to take

A Real Definition.

From the Houston Post. An applicant for a teacher's certificate in Kentucky answered an examination question by defining "blunder-buss" as "kissing the wrong girl." Dictionary or no dictionary, we would have given that girl a firts-class cer-tificate.

THE WEEK

Epitome of Events Ending November 13, 1915.

The State Department in a note to

WAR CONDITIONS AFFECTING UNITED STATES.

Great Britain protested against the detention and inspection of American hips in neutral trade. The Italian liner Ancona, with Americans aboard, torpedoed by a submarine in the Mediterranean. The Yser, formerly the Dacia until sold under prize court proeedings by the French government, was torpedoed off Algiers by a German submarine. A British cruiser is re-whending it to the presidents and principal officials of Latin American countries.

The President quoted Scripture in Support of the policy of preparedness for war; W. J. Bryan objected to the reference as not applying. A president full was to hunt for a trap. When he found it has to have for the pulled it out. Then what the pulled it out. Then what the pulled it out to the found the pulled it out. Then what the pulled it out to the found the pulled it out. Then what the pulled it out to the pulled it out. Then what the pulled it out to the found the pulled it out. Then what the pulled it out to the policy of preparedness for war; W. J. Bryan objected to the found it has to have the pulled it out. Then what the pulled it out to the policy of preparedness for war; W. J. Bryan objected to the found it has to have the pulled it out. Then what the pulled it out that we was eating the meat.

"I just hung around where I could watch. The very next day along came of the was eating the meat.

"I just hung around where I could watch. The very next day along came of the was eating the meat.

"I just hung around where I could watch. The very next day along came of the was eating the meat.

"I just hung around where I could watch. The very next day along came of the was eating the meat.

"I just hung around where I could watch. The very next day along came of the was eating the meat.

"I just hung around where I could watch. The very next day along came of the was eating the meat.

"I just hung around where I could watch. The very next day along came of the was eating the meat.

can unity.

In an interview Gen. Rosales declared the pan-American doctrine, in view of the unexpected European war and the possible future developments from that war, which might adversely affect the United States and her sister republics, is the most simportant matter to be presented to the nations of the western hemisphere in this century.

"The United States and every South and Central American republic must stand together as a solid unit for defensive and, if need be, offensive purposes against any possible enemy from any quarter," declared the general.

Furnment yielding to the objections of Russia, France. Great Britain and Japan; Japan assured the powers that she would not adopt military measures to prevent the proposed monarchy. Admiral Tseng Ju Cheng, governor of the Shanghai district of China, was assassinated by revolutionaries. The German consulate at Chihuahua, Mex., was raided by soldiers of Villa; famine in Mexico City was reported as having passed. President Cabrera denied reports of revolutionary successes in in Mexico City was reported as having passed. President Cabrera denied re-ports of revolutionary successes in Guatemala.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

cree investigating the focal relations of particular transport of the control of the particular transport of the control of the particular transport of the control of the particular transport of the The joint select committee of Conor South and Central America. But we do not know when the nations of pan-gress investigating the fiscal relations turned professional after outclassing water, and other showed exists of the last national amateur of grazion. Each specimen represented afterent formula for producing concrete work and other showed exists. The last national amateur of grazion. Each specimen represented day to do his final practice work at day to the telegration of thousands and proceeding to the day to do his final practice work at day to the final practice work at the final pr

It has been found that the ash of the seaweed found on the shores of Manila bay yields 15 per cent potash.

WEIGHTY MATTER.

Writer (to wife)—I certainly hope Dribblers will take this story, love. It is my heaviest work and if it comes back there will be 10 cents overdue

Little Stories For Bedtime

Glutton the Wolverine and the Trapper.

Peter Rabbit couldn't sit still. You know how full of curiosity he is and how dearly he loves a story. He had listened quite breathlessly while Honker the Goose told how Glutton the Wolverine had found all the traps submarine. A British cruiser is re-ported to have forcibly searched the North where Honker had spent the submarine. A British cruiser is reported to have forcibly searched the American steamer Zealandia while the steamer was lying in port at Progresso, Mexico; the United States demanded explanation from the British government. A French commission arrived in the United States to promote trade relations, with expectation of spending $160,090,090 for machinery and supplies. The German government denied that forged American passports had been issued with official sanction. Lieut Robert Fay of the German army and four others pleaded not guilty to charges of conspiracy to blow up an American munitions plant.

Progress of War.

Earl Kitchener's secret mission in the near east was officially denied as having India as objective. Skoulloudis, new prime minister of Greece, was reported as favoring the cause of the allies. Serbian, forces, retreating before the German attack, were reported in conjunction with the French forces coming to their aid. Austria claimed a repulse of the Italian attack at Col di Lana. Berlin reported heavy damage to London by Zeppelins.

NATIONAL.

The President quoted Scripture in Clutton My. What did the trapper do when he found all the bait taken?" Any when the found that all mis traps had been pulled out in plain is traps had been leaven to when he fo

Unity in Western Hemisphere.

The doctrine includes the idea of unity of nations of the western hemisphere for national defense against possible European or Assatic aggresses of the control of the property of the property ignorance, stupidity and insanity of tradition,

And tradition now says there is no

but by war, that the fruits of civili-zation cannot be preserved except by keeping in readiness for wholesale slaughter. The same kind of old "lead-ing citizens" that once thought beauti way to adjust international diffe slaughter. The same kind of old "leading citizens" that once thought heretich thunting, dueling, slavery and political corruption inevitable, unavoidable and necessary, and sneered at the impractical theorists who seemed to think the world could ever escape from those evils, is now chanting the glories of militarism.

But the twenty would have disappeared had a bookmaker given the odds," one of the onlookers remarked, for the lieutenant surprised them by pulling in the gamester.

Each of the trio caught one fish. High wind interfered with their sport the other days.

But war, and the whole program of other days. war, being utterly nonsensical, insane and inhuman, will have to go some day to the dump heap.

A Cabin From a Redwood Log. From the Popular Science Monthly.

There is a cabin in Golden Gate Park. San Francisco, which is constructed of a single log of redwood. It is about twelve feet long and rests upon a heavy platform of timbers which support the weight of the hollowed log. A doorway about five feet high and A doorway about five feet high and eighteen inches wide admits visitors to the interior, which forms a fair-sized room. The appearance of the cabin is striking because the front presents a cross section of a large redwood tree with the bark intact.

Seven fish were landed by the two men, and all were of fairly good size. Billy Withers and Walter E. Schneider did their fishing not far from the place where the "horse" was caught, "It was a case of all aboard for Little Hunting creek," said Sylvester Murphy, know what he did in there, but I have an idea that when the trapper came back he didn't find any food fit to eat there. Anyway, the next day he took his canoe and went away, and I did not see him again until the day before I left, when he came back with a lot more things, food, I guess.

"I'm just wondering if Glutton will get those things or if he will get Glutton, or if Grutton has gone somewhere else. Served the man right for trying to trap the little people who one does. But I certainly was glad to see him smarter than that trapper."

Washington, and it has been the scene of many a pleasant outing participated in by the host and hundreds of friends. In the summer and fall Harry Lansdale always is able to have Ferguson dale always is able to have Ferguson serve a fish dinner, while during the fall and winter season wild game is in order. Ducks and other river game are plentiful, and even in the coldest weather it is possible to get fish in small nets.

Capt. Peck and his companion were Lansdale's guests for two days. They went to the lodge in a motor boat and weather will assume the scene of many a pleasant outing participated in by the host and hundreds of friends. The sportsmen learned the fishing at Lynnhaven inlet was tionally good, one angler havin for the given and rabbits, the angle told, are plentiful, in the view of the sportsmen learned the fishing at Lynnhaven inlet was town will game is in order. Ducks and other river game are plentiful, and even in the coldest weather it is possible to get fish in small nets.

Capt. Peck and his companion were Lansdale's guests for two days. They went to the lodge in a motor boat and were not pleanted.

Lansdale's guests for two days. They went to the lodge in a motor boat and did their fishing and shooting from craft propelled by oars, the only kind from which shooting is permitted.

Va. It was the lieutenant's first effort at bass fishing, and his companions, both reputed experts, felt satisfied that they would have some fun with the novice.

It so happened, however, that the lieutenant has caught fish of many other tenant has caught fish of many other than the morning he would get birds enough to enable him to fulfill his promises.

"But the ground was dry," he said, and the dogs were continually tossing and pitching in an effort to pick up a scent.

"I shot five birds," added the gunner, "and got seven, the dogs picking up two cripples that had been shot by other gunners before I reached the field."

bait.
"Big enough to make the rest of the fishermen feel sick," remarked John W. Hurley, who say the display on the much in evidence."

The sportsmen learned that trout fishing at Lynnhaven inlet was exceptionally good, one angler having landed three trout weighing thirty pounds. Birds and rabbits, the anglers were told, are plentiful in the vicinity of Norfolk this season, but it is a little

William A. Hettinger, A. T. Schroth and Fred Lewis were on the Patuxent river four and one-half days last week. "The weather was warm and ducks were not plentiful," said Hettinger, "but we managed to get seventy of them while on the river."

resh water. The three anglers were on the water shortly after 5 o'clock, before daylight, and they fished from the bridge to the village. Their catch was sixteen bass, weighing from 134 to 315 pounds.

John E. Barry, Leon Maddox, Robert Clendenning, Raymond Barry and Charles Donaldson participated in a pleasant outing aboard the Grayling this week. They went to the vicinity of Freestone point and tried their luck at duck shooting on the marshes. "Ducks were not especially plentiful," said a member of the party, "and most of them managed to keep far away from us."

of them managed to keep far away from us."

They succeeded in getting a few ducks and were disappointed at being unable to do any fishing, not having made the necessary preparations for that sport. Others caught large numbers of bass.

THE EVENING STORY.

THE PEACEMAKER.

(Copyright, 1915, by W. Werner.)

CLEMENTINE WAS ASTONISHED. nd loved and enjoyed, and yet, instead and loved and enjoyed, and yet, instead of coming together daily to talk over old times, they kept each to her own way. It was a way of which Clementine had long since wearied, for she was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was poor for all her wealth—poorer than Celestia in her shabby house, for Celestia had her daughter and her grandchildren about her. She envied Celestia. And it seemed to her that Celestia might pity rather than hate her. "But the twenty would have disappeared had a bookmaker given the odds," one of the onlookers remarked, for the lieutenant surprised them by pulling in the gamester.

Each of the trio caught one fish. High wind interfered with their sport the other days.

J. A. Timberlake and E. E. Richards "put one over on the boys" up the river on a week-end outing. They were at Sawbuck Ripples, a short distance above Point of Rocks, where many other Washington sportsmen were trying fish.

White bait was what the anglers used, and a five and one-half pounder was the lightest gamester that took the bait.

"Big enough to make the rest of the fishermen feel sick," remarked John W. Hurley, who say the display on the strong on the solution.

Summers before I reached the field."

Timothy Costello, James E. Armstrong, John Kiley and Sylvester in a three-day anybody. She was poor for all her was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was poor for all her was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was poor for all her was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was poor for all her was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was poor for all her was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was poor for all her was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was poor for all her was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She was lonely. She was lonely. She had no claim upon anybody. She was lonely. She w to talk to her with its jade eyes.

Clementine was astonished. The cat must have got in through an open window. Mary was often careless about closing the windows after she had aired the house of a morning. She wished she had something to fling at it. But she had nothing. So she merely said "Scat!" At that the cat, with tremendous purring wiggled toward her and leaped in her lap, where it wound up cosily, rubbing her hand

"and after several hours' fishing the party and licking it with a rough, pink came ashore and had dinner at the Riv-"But," he added, "they didn't return after they had caught a string of bass, and so the boys at the club had to go without a fish dinner."

"The anglers ljanded a string of large fish," commented a member of the club. "We had an enjoyable day at the club, and everybody was happy."

"Well, of all things!" said Clementine.
"You're very forward, sir. And I despise cats. But that's a nice coat you've got. And it cost you nothing. Mine cost $100. I presume it originally grew on such a back as yours."

She smoothed the glossy fur wonderingly and the cat sang its friendliest. "Well, of all things!" said Clementine.

"We had an enjoyable day at the club, and everybody was happy."

R. E. Doyle, ir., J. S. Moss, Michael Flaherty and W. R. Wood participated in a week-end fishing trip to Dickersons. Members of the party had made good catches there during the past few weeks, especially Doyle and Flaherty, and the successful anglers assured their friends that they would get a string of bass.

"Perhaps a five-pounder," said Doyle, "you never can tell until you pull up anchor."

Flaherty was only one of the quartet to score. The water and weather were all that could be desired, they said, and it was not possible for them to understand why they did not catch fish.

Charles Macnicol Phil Davis and C. S.

"HAVE YOU COME TO SEE ME AT LAST?"

The large conservatory had once been full of plants. It was empty now, for when Clementine Hubbell's eyes failed her the plants had died. Mary, the maid, had been altogether ignorant of the needs of green, growing things and, although she had done her best, entertained.

village street and the slope of yard going down to the hedge.

Clementine had plenty of land about her house—too much land, she often thought when she considered how far away other people's dwellings were, beyond the hedge was an old, shabby house, which was to Clementine no more than a blot upon the perspective, But it was the thing she tried hardest to see.

A step crossed the room adjoining and a dark capable woman looked in. "T'm going to market now, Mrs. Hubbell," she said. "Shall you be comfortable, thank you, Mary, Don't forget the sweetbread."

"Good morning," began the little old woman, with asperity.
"Cleestia." exclaimed Clementine. "Have you come to see me at last."
"It hought I saw a cat sitting in your window," sald Celestia Coons, who was in great excitement, "and if I did it's our cat Skoots. She's been gone over a week, and we've looked everywhere.

Dorothy, that's my grandchild, has nearly cried her eyes out and—"
"Of all things!" Clementine at last."
"It hought I saw a cat sitting in your window," sald Celestia Coons, who was in great excitement, "and if I did it's our cat Skoots. She's been gone over a week, and we've looked everywhere.

Dorothy, that's my grandchild, has nearly cried her eyes out and—"
"Of all things!" Clementine of the Ukrainians must help the others to their freedom."
"The speaker was not a Ukrainian, but Dr. John Szulpas of Scranton, Pa. the president of the Lithuanian Autonomy Fund, which is as close kin to the basket of kittens.

"For mercy's sake!" cried Celestia
Coons. "Four of 'em! And all too cute for anything."

The two old women stood looking at the looked the half dozen of the native-born who were may leave."

"He says,' was the reply, 'that Uk-rainia cannot be free alone: that until dozen or the say."

"He says,' was the reply, 'that Uk-rainian cannot be free alone: that until dozen or the say."

"He says,' was the reply, 'that Uk-rainian cannot be free alone: that until dozen or the say."

"He says,' was the reply. 'The say.' was the reply. 'The say.' was the fortable where you are till I get back?"

"Quite comfortable, thank you, Mary, Don't forget the sweetbread."

The two old women stood looking at the tory for I want you to have it for your supper," the woman replied kindly as she turned away.

Clementine continued to gaze at the blur which was the house beyond the hedge. In that house lived the friend of her girlhood, who had now for many years been her bitterest enemy. They had come out of the past together side by side; they alone remained of the great company that had once lived

They had come out of the past together side by side; they alone remained of the great company that had once lived

They had come out of the past together side by side; they alone remained of the great company that had once lived

They had come out of the past together side by side; they alone remained of the great company that had once lived

They had come out of the past together side by side; they alone remained of the great company that had once lived

They had come out of the past together side by side; they alone remained of the great company that had once lived

The two old women stood looking at mon O. Pollock, a New York lawyer, mon Celestia said, your behalve the prophesion they lock and prophesion they lock and the happy fanily. Then they looked at the happy fanily. Then they looked a submerged by the care of he past this was the first congress of a submerged similar meetings of the other stifled races who are stifled races who are stifled races who are stifled races who are stifled races who And Clementine agreed happily that

(THE END.)

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Lots of infant industries never grow

More often than not the inside tip He who never does wrong never does

More men would acquire knowledge if hey could absorb it without being

The father of twins should be doubly A wasted opportunity comes home to taught.

Air castles are built on a foundation Music isn't necessarily broken be

People who do things can afford to let thers do the talking. However, the less a man talks the nore he doesn't have to apologize.

A fool and his money make a nois like a good thing. Some men kick when they have a heavy load to carry, and some others kick because they haven't the price of a "load."

FORMAL APPEAL MADE FOR 'SUBMERGED' RACES

President Wilson Asked to Present Case of Ukraninians When European War Ends.

and it was Enthusiasm for Native Country and Loyalty to United States Voiced at Meeting.

score. The water and weather were ail that could be desired, they said, and it was not possible for them to understand why they did not catch fish.

Charles Macnicol. Phil Davis and C. S. Hilbert wefit to Bloomery, three miles from Charles Town, and lished the Shennandoah river Wednesday. They made the banner catch of the season. It was not a matter of numbers, however, but one of size.

The cat stayed. It spent the evening from Charles Town, and lished the Shennandoah river Wednesday. They made the banner catch of the season. It was not a matter of numbers, however, but one of size.

The cat stayed. It spent the evening from Charles Town, and lished the Shennandoah river Wednesday. They made the banner catch of the season. It was not a matter of numbers, however, but one of size.

The cat stayed. It spent the evening from the catch fish.

The cat stayed. It spent the evening from the catch of the season. It was not a matter of numbers, however, but one of size.

The cat stayed. It spent the evening from the many control of core had bedtime come so soon.

The cat stayed. It spent the evening from the catch of the season. It was not a matter of numbers from the season. It was not a subject to the creating to the relation of the shall ultimately settle the war the socialed "submerged races" of Europe shall be given their day was heard the other day when 507 young Ukrainians of the working class came together in Coeper Union Hall. New York, at the first congress of these the other day when 507 young Ukrainians of the working class came together in Coeper Union Hall. New York, at the first congress of these representatives of a long-smothered folk ever held in the prize fish of the day, a bass that weighed 132 pounds.

Mack Sparrough and Will Wynkoop, na week-end outing a coerquant year of the was a still the season of the week cannot year the weak of the prize with the season of the week of catching the war in the was a still prize with the season of the prize with the season of the war in the war in the weak prin

the United States, where there are a half million of them, mostly in fac-tories and mines, and in Canada, where half million of them, mostly in factories and mines, and in Canada, where there are a quarter million on western farms, they are scarcely distinguished from Russians. But they are very insistent in pointing out that they are as different from the Russians as are the Bulgarians.

"They occupy all of the southern half of Russia in Europe and a large section of Austria—in all—a territory largerer than France—in the fertile black soil belt of southeastern Europe.

"At the congress, following a preface in which the Ukrainians declare their allegiance to this republic and piedge it their undivided support in peace and war," President Wilson is called upon to present their case to the conference of powers on these grounds:

"Imbued with the spirit of American democracy and believing in equality of man and woman in political and civil matters, having learned of the opportunities afforded by the American institutions, and bearing in mind that the submerged nationalities in Europe do not enjoy these privileges, although entitled thereto, this congress prodo not enjoy these privileges, although entitled thereto, this congress pro-claims the right to democracy and au-tonomy for all nationalities in Europe now the object of contest in war.

Demand for Autonomy. "The above organization, composed of men and women who come from Ukraine-southern Russia and eastern Galicia-knowing the conditions pre vailing in their notherland, naturally hope that when time of peace will come their nationality will also be afforded democracy and autonomy.

forded democracy and autonomy.

"For the reason stated above they demand for their brethren in Europe the establishment of an independent Ukrainian state which should comprise the Ukrainians now inhabiting the countries of eastern Europe."

"A bit later a thick-set, bearded man stood on the platform where Lincoln spoke—the platform which for generations has been hospitably open to every sort of protest—and spoke to them in rolling: impetuousd sentences of the sort of protest—and spoke to them in rolling: impetuousd sentences of the Polish tongue which is understood by all eastern Slavs. All through he had his audience with him, admiring and eagerly applauding. But at one point the whole hall broke forth in applause joined Russia. Later Russia divided the Ukraine with Poland and now the Ukrainians are subject to both the Rus ### sian government and the Polish nobles Formal Declaration. "At their meeting in New York the Ukrainians declared: "The ultimate goal of the Ukrainian movement is the establishment of an independent Ukrainian state which would comprise the Ukrainians now in-habiting the countries of eastern Eu-rope. But realizing that this ultimate Many a man's phenomenal success is a surprise to himself.

Anyway, the pen has the sword beaten to a frazzle for long-distance fighting.

Our idea of a lazy man is one who would rather pay for a shave than wash his face.

Tope. But realizing that this ultimate aim may not be accomplished in the near future and not unmindful of present-day conditions, which present problems of immediate importance, the Ukrainians demand that in Austria-Hungary the Ukrainian territory be organized into a self-governed province on federal lines, where the Ukrainian population, not dominated by the Poles or their aristocracy, shall solve its own national and economic problems. its own national and economic prob-lems. They demand also that the Rus-sian Ukraine, in fulfillment of the treaty of Pereyaslaw, which is still on the statute books of Russia and has not been abrogated, be granted au-

FAR FROM IT.

Higgins - Your music, isn't he? Wiggins--No. He's merely learning to play popular tunes on the p